(3) Letter no. 2361 dt 10-11-99 from the Comptr Mysore Govt enquiring whether Rev: Probationers are, like Probty: Asstt: Commrs & Accounts Probationers, ineligible for insurance -

Order thereon.

Upon a reconsideration of the question raised in the correspondence Government ~~consider~~ are now of opinion that all persons who enter the permanent service of Government,-- that is, such service as is prima facie determinable only by some act or default on the part of the incumbent,-- even if their appointment to such service be in the first instance on probation, are eligible for insurance under the Mysore State Life Insurance Rules. The fact that confirmation is made dependent on the passing of prescribed tests or on approved work during the period of probation does not render the appointment temporary, for the purpose of the said Rules, unless the appointments are merely acting for others absent on leave &c -

2. In the case of probationary officers who are liable to forfeit their appointment on failure, for instance, to complete their tests during the probationary period, insurance need not be made compulsory, but may be left to their option. If any such officer chooses to insure his life but is afterwards removed from the service as aforesaid, his case will fall under Rule 26 of the Insurance Rules.

3. Applications for house-building advances may be dealt with on similar considerations.
